President's Reasons Questioned.

The action of Representative Mann was with a view of forcing a test of sin-cerity in regard to the President's rea-sons for desiring the authority but not with the further purpose of purging House Republicans of the charge that used during his negotiations abroad. Those who showed the strongest sympathy with the paint of order insisted that if the President believes a big navy essential to the protection of this sountry there is no reason why the money should not be voted and the work begun without leaving any one a final and fature veto power over it. On the other land if the need for this big increase is so problematical as to necessitate vesting the President with the discretionary powers carried in the objection-the proviso the part of window would be to postpone action until the situation clears.

The effect of parliamentary deadlock, which was a complete surprise to the men in clarge of the bill, was to bring about a complete showdown that may cost the bill an number of votea. While Chairman, Padgett, after being twice ruled our on attempts to keep the provisoin the bill offered an amendment calling for the ten capital ships and appropuring $2,000,000 for their construction—the actual cost of the ships would be in the neighborhood of $200.—600,000—this amendment was offered only to gain time, and the bill was temporarily laid aside—before—the amendment could be acted upon.

"The United States has made a by word of democracy so far as the Sixtyfifth Congress is concerned." Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Woman Suffrage Association, said yesterday when news came that the Susan B. Anthony amendment had gone down to defeat in the Senate. Mrs. Catt, being ill with influenza, was unable to go to Washington. She heard the news in her home, 2 West Eighty-sixth street. She "took the blow standing." her friends said-not literally, since she is in bed, but with her spirit unbowed, and instantly began to make plans for the campaign in the next Congress. Senator Jones (N. M.), chairman of the Woman Suffrage Committee, was disappointed by the vote, but admitted that nothing could have been gained by delaying it further.
